DEMO MUTUAL NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT

FICTIONAL SAMPLE FOR SOFTWARE TESTING ONLY — NOT A REAL CONTRACT OR LEGAL ADVICE

This invented agreement is for testing PDF extraction, chunking, embeddings, MongoDB storage, semantic search, and question answering. The parties and details are fictional.

1. Parties and Effective Date

This sample Mutual Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA) is effective on 1 October 2026 between Blue Oak Innovations (fictional Party A) and Riverstone Analytics (fictional Party B). Each may be called a Party and together the Parties.

2. Purpose

The Parties intend to evaluate a possible software collaboration involving document automation. To support that evaluation, either Party may disclose confidential business, technical, product, or financial information to the other.

3. Confidential Information

Confidential Information includes non-public product plans, source code, designs, customer lists, pricing, business forecasts, security procedures, and technical documentation disclosed in written, electronic, or oral form and identified as confidential or reasonably understood to be confidential.

4. Exclusions

Confidential Information does not include information that the receiving Party can demonstrate was publicly available without breach, already lawfully known before disclosure, independently developed without using the disclosed information, or lawfully received from a third party without a confidentiality duty.

5. Recipient Obligations

The receiving Party must use Confidential Information only for the stated evaluation purpose, protect it with reasonable care, and disclose it only to personnel or professional advisers who need it for that purpose and are bound by confidentiality obligations.

6. Required Disclosure

If the receiving Party is legally required to disclose Confidential Information, it may do so to the extent required by law. Where legally permitted, it should give the disclosing Party prompt notice and reasonably cooperate with efforts to seek protective treatment.

7. Term and Survival

This agreement begins on 1 October 2026 and continues for two years, unless the Parties end it earlier in writing. Confidentiality obligations for information disclosed during the term continue for three years after the agreement ends, except where applicable law requires a different period.

8. Return or Destruction

Upon written request, the receiving Party will reasonably return or destroy Confidential Information, except for copies retained in routine backups or records that must be kept under applicable law. Any retained information remains subject to the confidentiality obligations.

9. No Licence or Warranty

No ownership or intellectual-property licence is granted by disclosure alone, except the limited right to use information for the stated purpose. Confidential Information is provided for evaluation without a promise that it is complete or error-free.

10. Remedies and Governing Law

The Parties may seek remedies available under applicable law. This fictional sample does not select a governing jurisdiction, establish enforceability, or replace review by a qualified legal professional.
